

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING.
The annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association took place yesterday evening in the building of the institution, the chair being occupied by Mr. J. H. Goodlet, in the absence of the president, Mr. J. R. Fairfax, who was out of town. There was a fair attendance.

In their report the board of management stated that on no similar occasion had it been their privilege to entertain so lively a host of the near future; to look back with so much complacency on the past; and to have so important a session.

dying year. Kate's death was a great loss to the church, and there was abundant cause for thankfulness in the fact that she died in the present retrospect, and the keynote of the report was fittingly one of praise. There had been no more of the old-fashioned progression in the Sunday night services, and there were unmistakable signs that they met a very important need in the irreligious life of the city. The Monday and Thursday meetings were found very helpful. The workers' training class had been held on Tuesday evenings during the greater portion of the year. The Saturday evening meeting had been carried on ever since their general assembly in 1902. The Y. M. C. A. work, a period of 20 years. Ver-

little support had been given to the Wesleyan Sunday prayer meeting, but the band of workers had accomplished much, but it was nevertheless true that one of the important matters which the old year left to the new was the re-organisation of the band. The general secretary would be glad to meet with volunteers. The mission at North Sydney continued a useful and encouraging work. Reports of the Sunday afternoon Bible class were very favourable. It was with much regret that the forthrightly socialists for scamen had to be given up during the year, but it was seen that the reorganised work of the Mariners' Institute was rapidly rendering them unnecessary. In carrying on hospital work 190 visits had been paid. During the year 25,500 tracts and 76,000 handbills had been distributed. Rapid increase took place early in the year in the number of those willing to join the branches of the Y.M.C. Bible Reading Union, which had then only been recently formed, and additions were still being made. The relief fund had been a boom to many dentists.

young men, and had often been the means of making a favourable opportunity for spiritual conversion. Help was much needed for the mission choir. Cottage meetings had been held every week. The library had been well patronised. The council room had been freely used by members. Young men and ladies in increasing numbers had been attending the evening classes, and made it necessary to alter them additional accommodation. The popularity of the gymnasium had not lessened. The record of the cricket club was a good one. The report contained

The number of references to the Social Department, as under the head of "general," various topics were dealt with, one being the Ladies' Auxiliary. During the year there were 13 applications for membership and 36 resignations. The number of names on the roll was now estimated at 650.

The Finance-sheet is the most favourable that has been submitted during the past 14 years.

The Chairman moved the adoption of the report and balance-sheet.

Mr. John Kent seconded the proposition. In speaking of the finances, he said he thought that there was a better position than last year's position.

$300. They had, he said, been extremely fortunate in the gentleman who filled the position of president. (Applause.) Not only did he himself have genuine sympathy with the movement, but members of his family were among those who helped them in various ways. Mr. Fairfax had intimated that he hoped they would allow him to retire for a time at the close of the current year. Those who wished to see him re-elected were glad to have him occupy at least another year the position he so worthily filled.

The Ven. Archbishop Langley alluded to the fact that the general secretary, Mr. D. Walker, had been associated with the institution for 20 years, and expressed a hope that he would be spared 20 years more. He also spoke of the theatre services held years ago and said he mourned over their discontinuance. Again and again he had the opportunity of being present in those olden days, and there was no one in Sydney grander or more important than this, which was then carried on. He trusted that some

In 1878 there were no classes, but now there are 45, and there are 42 gymnasium classes, whereas in 1878 there was not one. Mr. Walker urged members to get others to join the institution and said they wanted a revival.

METROPOLITAN CHARITIES' ASSO-CIATION.

A meeting of the council of the above association was held yesterday in the office of the Chief Secretary, there being present—Sir Arthur Reaume, (presiding), Cardinal Moran, Archbishop Langstaff, Messrs. Bigg, Allen, and Jones, Miss Brown, Golding, Revs. F. B. Boyce and J. Ferguson, H.D. L. F. Heydon, Messrs. Penfold, Cormack, Anderson, and E. Harris (non-secretary). Considerable discussion took place with regard to the various charitable societies to be approved by the association and which would be entitled to representations at the council. It was decided to approve of the less ing societies to the number of 30, and to adjourn meeting until Wednesday, the 16th instant, to enable those societies who have not already done so to be in their numbers. The heads of the various religious bodies will be invited to supplement the list with the names of the societies connected with them. Churches after which the societies will be invited to appoint delegates to select 10 representatives to sit on the council.
